Boston Society for Architecture Announces 2022 Design Award Winners

BOSTON, Massachusetts – Today, the Boston Society for Architecture (BSA) is pleased to announce the 2022 BSA Design Award winners. These annual awards celebrate exemplary projects that advance excellence in architecture and design and demonstrate the power of the built environment to empower communities, promote change, and build a more sustainable, equitable Boston.

The BSA honored all winners and participants at a celebration on Wednesday, January 18, celebrating Boston's design community at the BSA Awards Gala.

"The BSA Awards celebrate and inspire," says BSA President Andrea Love AIA. "It was an honor to share the stage last night with so many talented and visionary members of Boston's design community. I congratulate all the winners whose excellent projects reflect our aspirations to design a more sustainable and just built environment."

Selected by juries of leading architects, designers, and leaders in the built environment from Boston and across the country, winners of the 2022 awards are:
